The Fair360 Top 50 survey has been the external validator for large U.S. employers that model fairness in their talent strategies, workplace, and supplier diversity practices, and philanthropic engagement since 2001. It measures companies on leadership accountability, human capital diversity, talent programs, workplace practices, supplier diversity, and philanthropy.

The Top Companies for Black Executives list measures the hiring, promotion, and retention of Black employees within a company. As reported in its 2023 Be Well. Do Well. Progress Report, 36% of Aramark's management is made up of racially/ethnically diverse individuals and 20% of Aramark's board members are women of color.

"Aramark is honored to once again be recognized as a Top 50 Company for Diversity and as a Top Company for Black Executives for the first time," said Fenimore Fisher, Aramark's Vice President, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion. "The values of DEI are core values we embed into everything we do. As Aramark advances forward with our commitment to DEI, fairness is not a construct, it is a guidepost."

Be Well. Do Well., Aramark's ESG platform, sums up the company's dedication to reduce inequity, support and grow communities, promote diversity, and protect the planet. Its vision is to be the most admired employer and trusted hospitality partner, and the company works to achieve this by creating a fair and inclusive culture, fully engaging all levels of its workforce.

"I'm delighted to recognize the companies on the Top 50 list for their ongoing commitment to workplace fairness," said Luke Visconti, Founder and Chairman of Fair360. "The data shows that over the long-term, companies that consistently put their employees first and have strong track records of respecting and embracing diversity, equity and inclusion, are stronger performers and better equipped to adapt to market conditions."
